Joel Greene, the creator, producer and host of

Joel's passion for recycling and invaluable knowledge of "going green" will help students and teachers learn how to "MAKE" the connection between the Maker Movement and environmental STEM Service-Learning projects for your school or community!

YELC encourages teams of students in grades 3-12 to become engaged while developing critical thinking skills as they identify an environmental school or community need, then work together to access, design, and implement an environmental Service Learning project.

Student teams will rotate through workshops and the "STEMFest" Exhibitor Forum, spending time with STEM career experts.

"MAKER" Education will be back at this years event as we dig deeper into hands-on STEM exploration!
